DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Specification

The amendment filed 2/28/2006 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: There is no disclosure in the original disclosure of means for positioning a connector or base and means for adjusting the position of the tubing.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Objections

Claims 17-18 are objected to because of the following informalities: It is unclear if the "stop" and "second member" are the same structure. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification is not enabling for a means for positioning a connector or base and means for adjusting the position of the tubing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-28 and 31-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kihara et al. (6,579,265). Kihara discloses an infusion set comprising a base (41,42), a cannula (4in or 4out) connected to and extending away from the base, a connector (24) removably attached to the base, a tubing (5in or 5out), wherein the connector is rotatable on the base to more than 5 degrees and less than 360 degrees around a perpendicular axis when attached to the base, wherein the connector comprises at least one stop (45,49,50) for inhibiting rotation, and wherein a contiguous passage for passing fluids is formed from the tubing to the cannula when the connector is removably attached to the base, wherein the base comprises barriers (43,44) extending away from the surface of the base, wherein the stop extends away from a surface of the connector, wherein the barrier is disposed around the circumference of the base to restrict movement of the stop when the connector is rotated about the base, and wherein the connector can be attachable to the base in a plurality of different connection positions wherein the stop can be placed in different intervals between the two barriers.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see Remarks, filed 1/10/2007, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-28 and 31-40 under 102 (e) have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of reference cited above.
